Dear General Coates:

Congratulations on your Group's selection as the recipient of the Air Force Communications Command Air National Guard Unit Achievement Award for 1980. I am proud that the men and women associated with the 252d Combat Communications Group have been honored in this way, especially in view of the strong competition.

The State of Washington is fortunate to have such a fine unit whose members are not only dedicated to the defense of our country but to assist our state in times of emergency as well. Your efforts are greatly appreciated by me and all the citizens you serve in the state. General Herres' comments are a reflection of my own with the added thought that the state of Washington could not be more pleased. You have all performed in an outstanding manner.

Sincerely,

Dear Colonel Faber and Members of the 252d Combat
Communications Group

Congratulations to the men and women of the 252d Combat Communications Group on receiving the Air Force Communications Command Air National Guard Unit Achievement Award for 1980. Your selection for this award in the ANG Combat Communications Group Headquarters Unit category recognizes your outstanding contributions. Among your many accomplishments, your participation in the Team Spirit and Gallant Eagle exercises, support of the NORAD mission, and assistance following the Mount St. Helens disaster serve as noteworthy examples of extraordinary professionalism. Your combined efforts have been essential to the successful completion of a complex and critical mission. Please accept my personal appreciation--well done!

1. The recent announcement that the 252d Combat Communications Group is the recipient of the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award is good news indeed. This award coupled with the AFCC Special Achievement Award should leave no doubt that your Group and its subordinate squadrons is far and away the best CTE unit in the Air National Guard and United States Air Force. General Coates and I are proud of every member and the leadership that made the outstanding reputation you currently enjoy.

2. We look for bigger and better achievements in the future. Again, we offer our congratulations for a job well done.

Dear Colonel Faber,

Congratulations on winning the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award!

Each year the competition for this coveted award gets keener, and the selection of the 252nd Combat Communications Group for this year's AFOUA is well deserved. The dedication of your people and their heroic accomplishments during the terrible eruption of Mount St Helens is a source of pride for all Guardsmen and women. Their contribution to saving lives and relieving suffering during that awesome disaster is most deserving of this honor and recognition.

Please extend to all the members of the 252nd, my sincere congratulations for an outstanding achievement. Keep up the good work!

Dear Colonel Katke

I have just reviewed the Executive Summary of your 1-4 May 1980 Management Effectiveness Inspection. The fact that your unit received an overall "Excellent" is indeed noteworthy. The five "excellents" in the functional areas also are indicative of the type of unit you command and certainly of the caliber of the people who belong.

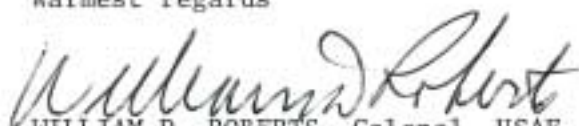

We seldom see so many laudatory items in a report and felt compelled to note this fact to you and your people. We certainly hope that the performance will continue and that your folks will work hard to find 31 quality people to fill out the authorized manning.

A special note of thanks should certainly be given to Major Hallmark, CMSgt Lambertson and MSgt Mooney. They received some very nice comments from the Inspector General. Our thanks to all your managers and supervisors as well.

It would appear to us that you and your people are but a "hare's breath" away from our overall outstanding rating. A little work on the manning, attendance and training documentation is apparently all that stands in the way of an absolute first for the 244th Combat Comm Squadron, the Air National Guard or for anyone else as far as we can determine. This certainly is a goal worthy of the efforts of you and your people.

Again, our sincere appreciation for the fine effort of the men and women of this unit. We can point to your organization with justifiable pride in the knowledge that this country can call upon you to do a job should an emergency arise. Very well done! You'll probably hear more of this from some other people who are equally happy with the super effort.

Warmest regards

1. I wish to express my personal congratulations to the Oregon Air National Guard for the fine Management Effectiveness Inspection report the 244th CCS received, 1-4 May 1980. I am particularly proud to count the unit as part of the 252nd Cmbt Comm Gp as I am sure you are to have such a high caliber unit under your Command. The overall Excellent rating achieved by the 244th CCS is most gratifying and is a tribute to outstanding leadership as well as outstanding support from other ANG units in your state.

2. Specifically, I recognize the professionalism displayed by LTC Gene Katke, Commander and Maj Kieth Hallmark, Det Commander. These two officers are the most dedicated, loyal, competent and hard working with whom I have had the pleasure to associate. Actions throughout their tenure have always been executed in the finest tradition of the Air National Guard, duty to State and Country. Your expert choice in assigning their current Command responsibilities has assured unit rewards and successes.

3. I would be pleased if you were to pass my feelings along to LTC Katke and Maj Hallmark.

Dear General Miller:

I want to convey my appreciation to you for the support and assistance the members of my TMS-RC Study Group received during their January visit to Oregon. The reception Colonel Biehn and his team received was outstanding and contributed significantly to our examination of the training management of your units.

Brigadier General Nudo was extremely helpful during our visit to his units. His staff and battalion commanders provided invaluable information in support of the OSD-directed study effort in which we are engaged. Lieutenant Colonel Cantrell; the staff and company commanders of the 2/162 Infantry went out of their way to accommodate the needs of my group and provide information which will certainly be reflected in the final TMS-RC report.

Your 244th Tactical Communications Squadron displayed a locally-developed time management system that is an excellent example of an innovative training management technique. It is hoped that successful programs such as this might eventually be adopted by other RC headquarters regardless of service.

My thanks to those of your command who made our visit so profitable.
